● 1. Stonyridge Sauvignon Blanc 2017

Cellar Door - $45

The 2017 Sauvignon Blanc exhibits aromas of ripe tropical fruits, melon and gentle herbaceousness on the nose, while the palate shows great focus and texture from the partial barrel ferment. Perfect for immediate drinking, but will also cellar for up to three years.

● 2. Stonyridge Syrah 2017

Cellar Door - $55

This Syrah is grown in the Eastern Hills of Waiheke Island, which has cooler temperatures and higher altitudes to promote freshness and brightness. Produced as an earlier drinking, fruit forward style of wine, the 2017 vintage displays ripe spicy fruit, with subtle French oak characters. On the palate, this Syrah has fine, soft tannin, sweet generous fruit through the mid-palate with pleasing length and balance.

● 3. Stonyridge Pilgrim 2017

Cellar Door - $95

Syrah, Mourvedre, Viognier, Grenache

2017 was another challenging year in the vineyards on Waiheke, so the advantage of the free draining north facing slopes of Stonyridge were key to achieving the quality of the Pilgrim this year. The heat throughout the ripening period, meant that flavour ripeness was easily achieved. On the nose, bright, fragrant aromas of fresh cherries and blueberries, with complex spice and toasty oak. The finess and warmth of the 2017 vintage is to fore in this wine, but will benefit from medium term cellaring. The palate at this youthful stage is tight and balanced, with fresh acidity and soft tannin structure. The mid-palate has bountiful fruit sweetness and finishes long.

Waiheke Island of Wine

Robert Parker's Wine Advocate:

"The flagship Larose put Waiheke Island on the map and remains one of the country's most iconic names."

● 2. Stonyridge Luna Negra 2017

We are devoted to creating the finest quality Malbec in the world, grown on our vineyard, Viña Del Mar, Waiheke Island. The extremely low cropping steep, north facing site combined with meticulous viticulture and traditional winemaking techniques create an inky dark “Luna Negra”, our ver own “Black Moon”. On the nose, dark brambly fruit layered with chocolate and coffee are supported by a generous level of quality tight gained French oak. The freshness and vibrancy of the 2017 vintage are to the fore in this wine, and will benefit from medium to long term cellaring to knit the element of this wine together. The palate is taut and firm, with great tannin grip at this youthful stafe of its development, and with the density of sweet fruit through the palate, makes for generous mouth-filling wine.
